ANNUAL REPORT 2025

We had another busy year in 2025. We continue to work with rescuers to reneest and reunite wild families as much as possible so that we can focus our rehabilitation efforts on those animals that truly need us.

Our spring squirrel intakes were down dramatically, but our fall baby season more than made up for it.

Spring squirrel season started late. Our first mammal intakes, early for both species, were Eastern Cottontails and Virginia Opossums. Our fall baby squirrel season more than made up the lower spring numbers as we are overwintering 52 Eastern Gray Squirrels and 8 Southern Flying Squirrels.

Eastern Gray Squirrel

We admitted a total of 168 mammals this year, including our first melanistic Eastern Gray Squirrel. Melanism is a congenital excess of melanin, resulting in the dark pigment.

We were in double digits for 5 of the 7 mammal species this year. Most notable for the reduced number of intakes was Groundhogs. We only admitted one this year which was transferred to Walden's Puddle to be raised with foster siblings his age.

As usual, our highest mammal intake was Eastern Gray Squirrels. We admitted a total of 77, most of those after July with just a few ready for release before the leaves were off the trees.

We also admitted 32 Virginia Opossums, 25 Striped Skunks, 19 Eastern Cottontails, 12 Southern Flying Squirrels and 2 Eastern Chipmunks.

Our release rate (calculated excluding those that did not survive the first 24 hours) was down slightly this year at just over 87% as we saw more species impacted by the changing weather patterns and free-roaming cats.

Our bird intakes were on par with the previous year, with 367 total admissions encompassing 45 species.

We did have two new species for us this year.

Hooded Merganser

The Hooded Merganser was admitted this spring as he migrated through. He sustained feather damage when he crash landed on the road mistaking it for a pond. We were able to transfer him to Mississippi Wildlife Rehabilitation for continuing rehabilitation and he was successfully released.

White-eyed Vireo

White-eyed Vireo Nest

We were able to identify this Vireo through the unusual nest they build. This little one was the only survivor of a free-roaming cat. The species is only in our area during breeding season, spending winters in Florida and farther south.

Robins once again topped the leaderboard with 101 admissions. We had 11 other species that were double-digit admissions (a record for us), including Northern Mockingbirds (22), House Finches (20), Ruby-throated Hummingbirds (20), Carolina Wrens (17), Eastern Bluebirds (17) Chimney Swifts (14), Barn Swallows (13), Northern Cardinals (11), Song Sparrows (11), Common Grackles (11), and Mourning Doves (10). These 12 species accounted for 75% of our total admissions.

Our release rate (excluding those that did not survive the first 24 hours) was 72%. We continue to see more wildlife adversely affected by changing weather patterns, habitat loss, and free-roaming cats.

Financially, we are covering our expenses thanks to donations from our rescuers as well as long time monthly, quarterly, and annual supporters. Our total income was $24,621 and our expenses were $22,465. The bulk of that money is spent on food, formulas, and medical care for our growing youngsters. We appreciate everyone who has helped us continue to thrive and provide care for our native wildlife.
